URGENT PLEAS FOR SPEECHES REACH SMITH

Democratic Candidate Considers Requests from Many Localities

ONLY 12 SCHEDULED

More Intensive Campaign Would Aid Nominee, Supporters Assert

New York, July 3—Governor Smith and his advisers today were considering appeals from all parts of the country for an extension of his campaign schedule, which at present lists only 12 speeches, to be delivered in important cities representing all sections of the union.

Many of his admirers feel that a more intensive campaign, with numerous public appearances, would be of invaluable aid in spreading knowledge of the Smith personality. Such a program, they say, would greatly increase the chances for a Democratic victory.

They are expecting also that the governor's acceptance speech, to be made in August, when he is formally notified of his nomination for president, will win over many doubtful dry...

Plans Plain Statement

"I will make my position perfectly clear in my speech of acceptance," Governor Smith said in his suite at the Biltmore, refusing further comment on the prohibition question.

Today was to be another day of rest for him, save for conferences with his personal advisers and some of the Democratic leaders.

Wednesday, however, the governor makes two public appearances.

In old Tammany hall, scene of so many important events in municipal history, he will make an address at the hundred and thirty-ninth annual Independence Day celebration of the organization. This is the last Fourth of July ceremony to be held there before the old quarters are abandoned.

The governor will speak on patriotism and liberty, avoiding campaign matters.

Declines Klan Bid

These two engagements were referred to by the governor when he declined an invitation to address the Jamaica Ku Klux Klan.

"That's as many as I can do in a day," was his sole comment on the klan bid.

Discussion of his plans for the immediate future brought out that when he visits the Boy Scouts at Bear

NICK SUNSERA HELD AFTER LIQUOR RAID

Still, Alleged Intoxicating Beverages and Mash Seized by Sheriff

High finance ideas for turning into profit what would ordinarily be checked up to loss got Nick Sunsera into a lot of trouble last night, according to county officials.

Sunsera, a fruit peddler, one day hit upon the happy thought of turning his unsold fruit into clear cash by converting it into bootleg whisky, it was reported. All went well until Sheriff James Deal and Deputies George Deal and Vane Ireland called at the Sunsera home about 10 o'clock last night with a search warrant.

On the second floor of the Sunsera residence, East Fairground rd., the officers are said to have found a 15 gallon still all ready to be put into operation. Stock in trade at the establishment consisted of the still, one gallon of alleged liquor and four barrels of fruit mash.

The market value of the stock took a tumble when the officers dumped a quantity of carbon oil into the mash, confiscated the still and locked Nick in the county jail for the night.

Sunsera was to be given a hearing in municipal court this afternoon in order that he might be released in time to celebrate the Fourth of July with his wife and two sons.

TEACHERS PROTEST

Belgrade, Jugo Slavia, July 3—Women school teachers throughout Jugo Slavia are holding mass meetings to protest against a bill introduced in parliament compelling feminine teachers to marry men teachers, if they marry at all. Sponsors of the bill assert that girl teachers who marry men belonging to another "class"—especially to "a lower class"—become estranged from their profession.

History of Warren G. Harding's Knights of Pythias' Affiliations To Be Made Part of Supreme Records

THE memory of Warren G Harding will be honored by the supreme lodge of Knights of Pythias when the record of his membership in Canby lodge No 51, of Marion, is written into the supreme lodge records.

The history of the late President Harding's affiliation with the local lodge is to be made part of the supreme lodge records when that lodge meets in Minneapolis next August.

For several weeks officials and members of Canby lodge have been assembling information for the record. The work has been done chiefly by Henry O'Dowd, district deputy, assisted by Clifford Willoughby and Joseph M Justice.

Endorsed by Father

The records of the local lodge reveal that Mr. Harding's application for membership was presented on April 15, 1887. It was endorsed by Dr. George T. Harding, father of the president, and Joseph T Mathews, John M Schneider, H Weber and T J. Osborn composed the investigating committee which returned a favorable report on the candidate's application.

On April 27 the page rank was conferred on the candidate. The esquire and knight ranks were conferred shortly afterward, the former on May 13 and the latter on May 27.

Officers in the chair of Canby lodge when the application was presented and the initiation ceremonies took place were W. S. Drake, chancellor commander; Henry Webber, vice chancellor; M Waddell, prelate; J Diebold, master at arms; C Welch, inner guard and H F Snyder, past chancellor.

Only Five Living

Serving at the degree team when the knight rank was conferred were the following:

Lewis Scherff, first senator; M H Porch, second senator; W. C Ropp, third senator; J. J. Woodard, fourth senator; George B Scofield, fifth senator; J. J. Crawley, sixth senator; S Oppenheimer, seventh senator; William Ballentine eighth senator; H J Gilatt, ninth senator; M Hess,

REPORT FRENCH BALLOON WINS BENNETT RACE

Lands in North Carolina, 475 Miles from Starting Point at Detroit

ALL ENTRIES DOWN

Believe French Exceed American Army Balloon by Margin of 15 Miles

Detroit, July 3. The French balloon "Blanchard" with Charles Dollfus, pilot, and Georges Cornier, aide, in the basket, has won this year's Gordon Bennett balloon race, it is believed.

The "Blanchard" landed at Walnut Cove, N. C., approximately 475 air line miles from Detroit. This is 15 miles farther than the distance traveled by the arms balloon piloted by Capt. W. E. Kepner. However, race officials will await an official calibration before announcing the winner.

All of the 12 racing balloons which left Ford airport Saturday are reported down. The German bag "Munster," last of the bags to report, made a landing in the vicinity of Lynchburg, Va., according to unofficial word received here.

Meanwhile race officials have asked Charles Schory, of the National Aeronautical Association, in Washington, D. C., to rule on the legality of the landing made by the Blanchard, Dollfus and Cornier landed in a mill pond and then rowed to shore in a collapsible rubber boat.

CONFLCT CONTINUES IN ZIONISTS' RANKS

Factional Strife To Reach Climax in Election Today

Pittsburgh, July 3—Torn by discussion and having abandoned efforts to bring peace to its two embattled factions, delegates to the thirty-first annual convention of the Zionist organization this afternoon expected its bitterest fight at the election of officers.

The membership to decide whether the present leadership, with Louis Lipsky, president, is to be continued, or whether the group opposing him, led by Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, of New York, is to take over the control of the Zionist group.

A movement for government by a committee rather than a single executive head gained headway as the delegates prepared to ballot. The constitutional committee of the Zionists, under the leadership of David Rudavsky, of Fall River, Mass., was to confer with Prof. Mordecai Caplan, of New York, before making a report on the committee plan to the convention.

Nathan Strauss, New York philanthropist, who has given $1,500,000 to the Palestine homeland movement, stepped into the convention breach with a statement dictated from New York in which he warned that "there is no place in our movement for pettiness or rancour," and warned that such strife would be "treason."

Local Youth Leaves For Convention At Kansas City

A MATTER of some 500 miles by foot or automobile, an opportunity permits, held no terror for a Marion boy who wanted to attend the national convention of the Young People's Branch of the Women's Christian Temperance union, this week in Kansas City. Leaving here Sunday, Glenn Duffey, 570 South Prospect st., expected to arrive at his destination today. He secured a "ride" as far as Illinois and expected to "thumb" the rest of the way.

Young Duffey is a son of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Duffy and is employed a sawistant window trimmer at the Uhler-Phillips Co.

The Y. P. S. convention opened yesterday. Duffey, who is president of the local branch, is its only delegate.

Fireworks Display at Park Scheduled as Chief Feature of July 4 Program Here

Crystal Lake Management Announces Attraction for Night; Practically All Business To Suspend; Weather Prediction Not Exceptionally Favorable

A fireworks exhibition, to take place on the east shore opposite the dance pavilion, will be held at Crystal Lake park in observance of the Fourth of July, Wednesday night, it was announced by Fred Scherff, manager of the park, today.

The exhibition will start at 9:15 o'clock. In the event of rain at the time of the scheduled display of the fireworks, the exhibition will be held at the same hour, Thursday night.

The event at Crystal Lake will be the outstanding feature of the observance of the national holiday here. Marion Eagles baseball team will play Mansfield in the first of a five game series at Lincoln Park, at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, as another attraction.

Business To Suspend

Practically all of the downtown business houses will be closed for the day, according to an announcement of Kenneth Fields, secretary of the Marion Retail Merchants bureau. Mail delivery on both city and rural routes will not be made in order to give employes an opportunity of enjoying the holiday.

Weather predictions for the holiday hold a taste of both the bitter and sweet. While relief from the heat is promised in gradually falling temperature, "steady thundershowers" will be the lot of persons in this part of the state, if the weatherman's prediction holds true. The weather will be "partly cloudy," with showers both tonight and Wednesday.

After weeks of rain Marion experienced her first warm weather last Sunday when the temperature rose to 85. Yesterday's high was 84 while today, at noon, the temperature had dropped to 70 degrees. A year ago yesterday the temperature reached 92 degrees, dropping to 61 in the night, while low here yesterday was 67 degrees.

Warm in Midwest

Scorching heat in the midwest has set new season records in two consecutive days, although slight abatement was promised in the "generally fair and a few degrees cooler" prediction today. Yesterday's high in Kansas City was 93 degrees.

Temporary relief from Chicago's first real heat wave of the summer came this morning in the form of cooling showers. But a hot sun broke through the clouds and shot the mercury up, indicating the heat wave has not yet burned itself out. Yesterday's maximum temperature in that section was 87.

NO STAR TO BE ISSUED JULY 4

In keeping with the custom followed in past years by the paper there will be no issue of The Star, Wednesday, July 4, in order to give employes an opportunity of enjoying the national holiday.

ENDS IN TRAGEDY

Boy Meets Death in "Camping Out" Adventure

Columbus, July 3—Homer Miller, 10, was dead today, the tragic culmination of a "running away from home" adventure over the week-end.

The boy, with three companions, went out to play Sunday afternoon and at their urging remained away from home with them, "camping out" during the night.

It is believed the boy stumbled into one of the treacherous "stepoffs" in the Olentangy river, plunging into seven feet of water.

OFFICIALS FIND BLOODY TRAIL AFTER ROBBERY

Burglar Shot by Sherman Shafer Near Home on Erie-st

A trail marked with blood leading across a vacant lot to the Erie railroad is the only clue confronting police today following the attempted robbery of the Sherman Shafer home 203 Erie-st at 4 o'clock Monday morning. A check on hospitals and physicians has revealed no trace of the wounded burglar.

Awakened by the whispers of his wife that some one was attempting to enter their home, Mr. Shafer obtained the gun. Confronting the burglar as he was about to remove a screen from a window, Shafer was unable to fire before the man escaped.

Waiting near the window for some time, Shafer saw a light appear in the house occupied by Claude Lucas on the opposite side of the street. A short time later the man reappeared walking toward the Shafer home.

Runs Across Lot

Commanded to halt, the man immediately fled across a vacant lot toward the Erie railroad tracks. One shot was fired at him by Shafer. Police were notified but a search conducted in the neighborhood failed to reveal any trace of the burglar.

Daylight revealed that the shot had taken effect, blood being found in the lot where he had crossed, and blood stains on the ground showed where he had either been dragged or had dragged himself to the Erie tracks where the trail ceased. It is the belief of the

The Monarch Printing Co. of Marion, was awarded the contract for the printing of 17,500 ballots for the August primaries in Marion county at a meeting of the Marion county board of elections last night. The ballots will cost the county $215. One other bid was submitted by the Marion Printing Co.

AL WINS

Smith's Outnumber Hoover in Marion City Directory

IF only members of the Hoover and Smith families were permitted to cast their ballots for their namesakes, the election for president of the United States, selecting the Marion city directory as a criterion, would be as one sided as the conventions. More than six pages of Smiths totaling 195 to be exact, occupy a prominent place in the directory while modestly tucked away in a corner are 12 Hoovers.

With all of their large number, none of the Smiths carry the proud name of Alfred, although there are plenty of Alberts and the Hoovers carry 12 different names, but none are Herberts.

VICTIM OF GANG WAR RESTS IN $15,000 CASKET

Frankie Uale's Desire for "Grand Funeral" To Be Granted

New York, July 3. Frankie Uale, the gangster who was shot and killed Sunday afternoon lay in a $15,000 casket at a Brooklyn funeral parlor today, while 500 men, women and children of the underworld and hordes of the curious came to pay their last respects.

The body was dressed in a dinner suit a string of rosary beads was entwined among the fingers of the right hand. A cross lighted with electric lights was at the feet.

Friends said it had long been Uale's desire to have a grand funeral, and that he wanted it to outshine that of the late Dion O'Bannion, his enemy, whose funeral still is remembered as one of the greater events of its sort in Chicago.

The mourners at the undertaking parlors were quiet. Near the door of the undertaking chapel was a money box in which friends of the gangster deposited coins for the purchase of flowers.

Two women, Mae Maria Uale and Mrs. Jacinda Uale, claim to have been the gangster's legal wife. Each said they would claim the body.

POLITICAL LEADERS AWAIT DAVEY REPLY

Gubernatorial Candidate Pays Cost of Kenton Publication, Bloom Charges

Lancaster, O., July 3. State political leaders were today awaiting the reply of Congressman Martin L. Davey, representative of the 14th congressional district, to charges made by Earl D. Bloom, state director of commerce in an address before the Fairfield County Democratic club here last night, that Davey is "subsidizing the Ohio Review, in that he is paying the entire cost of the publication, which is supposed to be $2,700 a month."

Director Bloom charged that the editor of the Ohio Review, a Kenton publication, has eulogized Davey as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, that Davey is paying for the subscription to each Democratic judge and clerk of election throughout the state of Ohio, and to each Democratic county official, "with the distinct understanding that the publication is not to mention any other Democratic candidate for governor."

Bloom further declared that "any candidate for governor could have had the same mention from the said paper had he overbid Mr. Davey in his efforts.

HUNT FOR AMUNDSEN

Reported Finding of Explorer's Body Proves Untrue; Eight Nations in Search

Moscow, July 3—The Russian ice-breaker Krassin, which was reported to have rescued the remaining members of the Nobile group from the ice near Foyne island, was still 100 miles from the refugees today, said a radiogram from the ship.

The Nobile relief committee, which received the wireless message, said that the commander of the Krassin was confident he would be able to force his way through the floes and take on board the marooned members of the Nobile party and Lieut. Lundborg, the Swedish flier, who is with them.

The Russian ice breaker Malgin reported by radio that hope is virtually abandoned for Russian aviator Babushkin and his mechanic who have been missing since they hopped off last Friday in an effort to locate the missing members of the Nobile expedition.

Sea and Air Craft Join in Hunt for Amundsen Party

Oslo, Norway, July 3—With eight nations 14 ships and more than a score of planes now cooperating in the search for him, the disappearance of Capt Roald Amundsen, who with his car companion left Tromsoe, Norway, in a French seaplane on June 18 to search for General Nobile was still shrouded in mystery.

Two British moth planes are expected to arrive here soon to join the searching expedition. Upon their arrival the number of planes engaged in the rescue work will total 22.

In denying the report circulated yesterday that Amundsen's body had been found, relief officials here stated that none of the ships now scouring the Arctic sea had reported finding any trace of the noted explorer or his plane.

BONDSMEN APPEAL TO HIGHER COURT

Bucyrus Men To Carry Plea to Appellate Court in Milligan Case

(Special to Star)

Bucyrus, July 3—Bucyrus men who are bondsmen for W. E. Milligan who was arrested in 1924 by Chief Troutman for impersonating an officer and for having liquor in his possession, filed an appeal to the appellate court at Lima Saturday following notification of the $1000 forfeit by Common Pleas Judge Earl R. Cater, of Upper Sandusky.

A. E. Leuthold, R. R. Picking, Charles D. Moore, C. Picking and R. Picking, the bondsmen, hold their defense on the grounds that the bonds in Milligan's case were extended beyond the period of time specified on them and to which they affixed their signatures. They allege Mayor Schuler, Bucyrus, granted an extension of time for Milligan's trial without notifying them.

Milligan formerly resided in Marion where he was associated with the Ivy Enforcement forces.

June Fails to Live Up to Former Moods As Huge Amount of Rainfall is Noted

MARION brides of last month, who chose this particular month for their nuptials because of her charming disposition and enticing titles of Brides Month, Month of Roses, Fairest Month of all the Year and many other flattering phrases, had in attendance at their ceremonies a sobbing, sulking June. According to Dr. E. H. Raffensperger, local weather observer, the month scored one of the heaviest rainfalls in the history of the city.

This year, people knowing its former reputation, planned beautiful garden parties, parties at resorts, and innumerable weddings. But this year June refused absolutely to live up to her cut and dried, expected moods. June went 7.35 inches of tears over her fate. She broke away from all precedent and "became herself." Only this time she certainly didn't improve upon her former reputation.

Last year the highest amount of rainfall for a single day was one-half inch and this year the highest was 1.28 inches. Last year it only rained five days, but people remember with a shudder the 18 days of real honest-to-goodness rain which were experienced last month.

Marionites last year, witnessed a rainfall of 1.36 inches while this year 7.35 inches of rain fell, according to the report.

Thursday, June 14 was the warmest day this season, at 85 degrees, but in 1927 on June 30 the thermometer registered 92. As it is, this year people don't know whether to take the picnic lunch and firecrackers and prepare for a regular Fourth of July, or to take the slicker and be on the safe side with the weather.

Last year June was colder than this year, however, as the average temperature was 65 degrees, compared with the average of 70 degrees this year, the report showed.

June of last year had one day which registered 92 degrees.

Konjola Brings Glorious Relief From Rheumatism

Confined To Her Bed for Six Weeks Before Taking Compound

MRS. W. B. JOHNSON

"I was a nervous wreck before I took Konjola and I had worried myself sick over the poor condition of my health, but everything is different now," said Mrs. W. B. Johnson, 104 Dorchester Street, Mt. Auburn, Cincinnati, Ohio.

"For six weeks I was confined to my bed with rheumatism. It was impossible to move my limbs because the joints were so swollen and stiff. Due to a sluggish liver I had to be taking laxatives all the time. Now and then a mist appeared before my eyes and often thought I was going blind. I don't think I would be entirely well again because no medicine seemed to help me.

"But Konjola proved to be the exception. It went right to the source of my trouble. The rheumatic aches and pains gradually eased up and then completely disappeared. Now there is not a trace of that ailment left in my body. My liver is functioning properly and all need of a laxative has disappeared. I strongly indorse Konjola to others who suffer as I once did."

Konjola is different than any other known remedy in this section. It contains twenty-two juices extracted from natural plants which invigorate the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels to more healthy action. The effect of Konjola on the entire system brings amazing relief in cases of suffering that had been going on for years. At the same time many weak and run-down systems have been restored to a new state of health through this compound. Such a vast number of men and women in this city have told of their experience with this new medical product until now Konjola is the most highly indorsed medicine that is known in this vicinity.

Konjola is strongly recommended here in Marion at Stump & Sams Pharmacy, and is also being sold by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this section.—Adv.

Ducks Begin Assuming 'Eclipse Plumage' As Spring Goes and Summer Makes Debut

BY PROF. ALLEN C. CONGER
(Department of Zoology, Ohio Wesleyan University)

SPRING is gone and now summer is here in earnest as the sun slowly wheels back to the south. The ducks which nested in the marshes by our Ohio lakes have already begun to assume their dull "eclipse plumage" and on every hand we may find evidence of the passing of the mating season among birds in general. The more sociable species are now abroad in family groups. Mourning doves, chickadees, titmice, bluebirds and some others seem loath to break family ties so soon, but many species have already scattered, only to collect a little later for their long southern journey.

It is somewhat surprising to find that one species, many of whose members were seen in weedy fields last winter is just now settling down to family duties. Until now the Goldfinches have led a carefree existence, feasting on the dandelion seeds in our lawn or pouring out their canary like song from tree tops or bounding along over seeming billows of air. Now these little rays of sunshine have ochered down to more prosaic tasks. Can it be that they must wait until the thistles and the milk wood of our neglected fields and fencerows have provided the down with which to line the cups from which young Goldfinches first view midsummer world?

Choose Appletrees

A lot of discarded snake-skin dangles from the cavity in an old appletree in a neglected orchard. This can be only the work of that big eccentric fellow, the Crested Flycatcher. Many and long have been the arguments as to why a bird should choose so consistently and frequently this peculiar and far from common material for nest adornment. There are some who maintain that would-be despoilers of the nest are kept at a safe distance by a thing so threatening as the tattered scarecrow of snake skin. This would seem to attribute to the nest-builder just a little too much of reasoning power, but a credit must be given to the Crested Flycatcher in a place among those devotees of fashion who have lately turned in their quest of novelties to bags and purses and even shoes made of the skins of lizard and of snake.

The skill with which birds conceal their nests is apparent to all who have searched in meadow or foliage for a nest when the actions of the worried owners made it sure it was quite nearby. To admit failure in this game of "hot and cold" with the feathered creatures is quite humiliating. Certainly no less baffling is the skillful camouflage with which Nature has painted the eggs of those birds which nest in bare open places.

Rainy Month

Last spring a man was late in preparing his garden for seed and because ashes which had been scattered to assist in breaking the heavy soil seemed to furnish a proper background for eggs, Madame Killdeer selected a spot which suited and there laid her four top-shaped eggs. Those four mottled eggs which so matched their setting of ashes and earth were the most important things in the world to that mother Killdeer. Fortunately from the prosaic standpoint of corn and beans, young Killdeers are like new hatched chicks, downy and able to run about and feed. The zoologist applies the term precocial to all such well-developed youngsters.

The month just past has been a rainy one in Ohio, but before July ends and during the remainder of the summer we may confidently expect the hot dry weather of the average summer season. If the reader has never before done so, try the experiment of providing a bird bath. It need not be elaborate. A large flower-pot saucer or a metal pan will do quite nicely. Do not place it near shrubbery where lurking cats may hide. Keep it supplied with clean, cool water and it will be found that it is a means of enticing many feathered visitors to the lawn or flower garden. In fact, it is scarcely less effective than a feeding station during the winter season.

MANSFIELD TO PLAY OPENING CONTEST AT LINCOLN PARK HERE

Local Nine Will Face Slugging Team in Fourth of July Fray

Plenty of fireworks will be in store for Marion fans in spite of the edict of city officials banning the use of firecrackers and what nots on the Fourth of July when the Marion Eagles open a five-game series with Mansfield at Lincoln Park Wednesday afternoon.

The fireworks expression of the above paragraph was not used merely because it happened to be Independence Day but there is always lots of noise when these two aggregations meet.

This game will be the only event scheduled in Marion for Wednesday afternoon and the ticket sellers were spending today going through a routine of heavy training in order to be in condition to handle the large number of tickets that are expected to be sold.

Same Lineup

The Eagles will use the same lineup as defeated the Florida Cuban Giants in an exciting game Sunday. Charley Noel with his pocket filled with resin will do the hurling.

Rixor will be playing third with the balance of the infield remaining the same as in past games. Shartock, Rowan and Price will roam in the gardens for most of the fray.

Barret will hurl for the visitors with McClintock doing the receiving. The latter may also get a chance to do a little of the pitching in case the Eagle batters go on a rampage.

McMullen Back

Local fans remember McMullen who last year knocked a homer over left field fence. He will be back again this season endeavoring to demonstrate his ability to crash 'em across this season. Mac does not consider the longer field any handicap.

Mansfield has built up a team of sluggers to win the series. Marion, although growing better on the hitting side of the game, will find their defensive prowess taxed to the limit if all the pre game ballyhoo means anything at all.

FIVE QUALIFY

Salem, N. H., July 3—With Leon Duray, Bob McDonough, Ralph Hepburn, Fred Comb, Louis Meyers and others already qualified other daredevil auto drivers were humming along the board saucer here today in an effort to win the five remaining places in order to qualify for the 200 races tomorrow. It is expected that the 200 mile race tomorrow would check up an average speed of 125 miles an hour.

TONY TO ARRIVE

San Francisco, July 3—Tony Marullo, New Orleans heavyweight, who meets Charley Belanger, of Canada, in a 10-round fight here Friday night is expected to arrive here from the East today.

Gene Tunney Admits He Is Better Fighter Today Than at Chicago Bout With Dempsey

Opinion of Champion's Condition Vouchsafed to Walsh Over Telephone

By DAVIS J. WALSH

New York, July 3 Gene Tunney is a better fighter today than at any time before or during the Dempsey match in Chicago last September.

This opinion was vouchsafed the writer over the long distance telephone this morning by the final authority of them all in this particular instance, Tunney himself, and by Billy Gibson, who talks the champion's fights for him. Their joint statement came in answer to reports in circulation here that Tunney, either mistaking Heeney for an out and out sap or having become bored by the tedium of existence, was negotiating his training.

Either way, it didn't sound right. Brother Tunney may become pained with human nature in general from time to time but the detail of physical conditioning far from being a trial to him, is not about his only known vice. He was justifiably indignant when he heard about it.

Prof Gibson, when called upon, said among other things, that he was particularly delighted to find Tunney's "judge" of distance to be all that it should. It seems the first thing the professor looks for in a fighter's "judge of distance."

"I was tickled to death when I first saw Tunney last week" said the professor "He only had been boxing a couple of weeks then and I figured that, with his lay off, his judge of distance wouldn't be just right. But it was. In fact, if it had been any more right, it would have been wrong, maybe. Anyhow, the Tunney I've seen up here is the Tunney we had before the Philadelphia fight with Dempsey. He looks like the old gate receipt to me."

The professor added that Tunney weighs 196 pounds and probably will go to the post weighting slightly more than 191. He has been working steadily and easily, the professor says, having failed to appear on Sunday only because he wanted to "duck the mob"—the professor said. Even then, it appeared, it wasn't a complete day of rest because our hero took to the road for six miles; the professor knows, because he went along on a motorcycle.

There's one thing about the professor. He won't ask his athletes to do anything he wouldn't do himself—on a motorcycle.

SIX-ROUND BOUTS DAILY FOR CHAMP

Speculator, N. Y., July 3—Gene Tunney today goes on a six-round schedule of boxing with heavy sparring mates. The champion will for three rounds daily with Billy Vadebock and three with Harold Mays. He has dispensed with the services of welterweights who were being used to speed up his foot work.

Billy Gibson, Gene's Manager, Says Battler Has "Judge of Distance"

Lee Street Leading League

SEVEN CLUBS HAVE CHANCE FOR SECOND IN AMERICAN LOOP

Big League Teams with Faith in Old Adage on Good Behavior

New York, July 3—What a scramble the American League race would be if those Yankees weren't so high hat! Each of the other seven clubs has a chance for second or third money. Even the tail-end Tigers have a percentage of .300 and are only four games away from a first division berth.

All the teams in both leagues that are in the first division or near it will be on their best behaviour today and Wednesday; both players and managers put a lot of faith in the old adage that a team in the first division on the Fourth of July—the season's halfway mark—will be there at the end of the year.

The Cubs jumped to third place in the National League and the Reds dropped back into the second division when Artie Nehf, Chicago's veteran southpaw, held Cincinnati to five hits, winning 8 to 2.

Boston's Hornsboys took two extra-inning tilts from the Phillies, 4 to 3, in 14 innings and 5 to 4 in 10 innings. Hollingsworth twirled good ball for nine innings in the opener.

The other National League teams did not play.

Nats Win

Garland Braxton, once a Yankee, pitched the Nats to a 4 to 3 win over the Yanks. It was the third defeat of the year for George Pipgras. Joe Judge's two triples did more damage than Babe Ruth's 31st homer.

Lefty Grove of the Athletics stymied the Red Sox, 9 to 2, but the Sox tripped up Rube Walberg in the nightcap, 7 to 4. Cobb smacked four hits in the opener. Al Simmons walloped seven hits in eight times at bat.

The White Sox went gunning and snagged two victories from the Browns, 7 to 1 and 9 to 8. Ted Blankenship was a cinch in the opener but the Sox just lasted to win the nightcap.

Uhle took another trimming and Bruce Caldwell, ex-Yale star, again failed as a pinch hitter as Cleveland lost to Detroit, 7 to 3.

OUTLOOK GOOD FOR KENTUCKY FUTURITY

Eligibility of Large Number of Youngsters Maintained at Payment Date

Lexington, Ky., July 3—For the thirty-sixth renewal of the Kentucky Futurity, to be raced at the fall meeting of the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' Association, here, the eligibility of a goodly number of youngsters was maintained, on the recent payment date: 35 for 3-year-old trotters, 48 for the 2 year olds. The showing is declared by Roy Miller, general manager of the association, to be more than pleasing.

These two races have long been among the chief events of each year's harness racing and have been won by such notables as Peter the Great, Sidko, The Harvester, Etowah, Peter Volo, Arion Guy, Rose Scott, Lee Worthy, Mr. McElwyn, Guy McKinney and Josola's Worthy, among the 3-year-olds. Trampfast, Czarevna, Justice Brooke, Voigt, Baystar, Jane Revere, Sam Williams (recently sold for $25,000), Ruth M. Chenault and Fireglow are listed among the winners of the division for 2-year-olds.

Most of the good 2-year-olds of 1927 are kept eligible to this rich event, while the last in the junior division is made up of youngsters of rich blood lines and which have been shown, in spring training, that they will do to take to the races. Thus two great contests are again assured for the fall "Trots" at the center of the harness horse world. The event for 3-year-olds is worth $14,000, the other $7,000.

PROMOTER TO ASK DELAY OF BATTLE

Morgan-Martin Bout May Be Postponed Until Thursday Night

New York, July 3—Promoter Humbert Fugazy will ask the boxing commission today to postpone the Tod Morgan Cannonball Martin junior lightweight championship bout from Wednesday night until Thursday.

Another of those Fugazy-Rickard clashes is scheduled to come to a head today when the former applies for Aug 8 as a date for a return light heavyweight title match between Tommy Loughran and Leo Lomski. Rickard will contend that Loughran must first box Jimmy Slattery, as ordered several weeks ago.

Now that Mickey Walker is expected to decline a July 11 match with Lomski under terms imposed by the boxing commission, Fugazy has offered Armand Emannel to Lomski on that date. Lomski turned down Tiger Payne, Leo Flynn's new colored middleweight.

SHANE WALTER

Detroit, July 3—Walter Hagen, winner of the recent British open golf championship, was to appear in recorder's court today to answer to a charge of speeding 55 miles an hour on Jefferson Av. last night.

There is really no excuse to smile in the face of adversity. Smiling doesn't help, only grit.

CHALLENGER IN TRAINING

Tom Heeney, challenger for Gene Tunney's crown, is putting in long hours of training at the St. Nicholas Rink at New York. Tom is different from many fighters in that he doesn't believe in going out into the wide open spaces to do his work, but chooses the heart of a big city. He says he feels more at home and contented.

Gambling Charges Placed Against Four at Opening

Cleveland July 3—President H. K. Devereux of the grand circuit, and three men alleged to have been conducting "speculating" booths at North Randall race track, were to appear before Justice of the Peace W. J. Zoll today to answer charges of violating gambling laws. The four were arrested at yesterday's opening of the two day grand circuit meeting at North Randall by deputies of Sheriff Earl Hamlin, of Cuyahoga county. Each was released under bond of $500 pending today's hearing.

Favorites accounted for a majority of the races at Randall Monday, Colonel Strong, driven by Charley Valentine, taking the "Sportsman," three-year-old pacing feature event, in three straight heats. Rod Aubrey, driven by Childs, did likewise in the 2:14 trot, Blonde Lady and Prince Don took principal money in the remaining two events.

On today's card three of the country's fastest trotters were listed—Hazelton 2.01¾, Sam Williams 2.02¼ and Guy Ozark, 2.02½.

DEFEAT OF JUNIORS COMES AS SURPRISE; FOREST LAWN LOSES

One Tie Existing in Standings of Church Loop: Four Games Tonight

S. S. LEAGUE NO. 2

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Lee Street	6	1	.857
Epworth Juniors	6	2	.750
Lutheran	5	3	.625
Lutheran	6	3	.750
Christian No. 2	3	4	.429
Forest Lawn	2	5	.286
Presbyterian No. 2	1	6	.143
First Reformed	0	7	.000

Just when everything was all set for the wise eggs to proclaim the Epworth Juniors the champions of Sunday School League No. 2, Lee Street Presbyterians stepped to the front and, with no ceremony at all, gave the former league leaders a 6 to 4 defeat.

The lead of the Juniors in the league lasted but a short time and today they are in second place. Lee Street is holding first position, with only one game lost.

For the first time this season there is but one tie existing in the league. Every position is separated from the next one by a narrow margin of points.

Forest Lawn was given one big surprise last night when Presbyterians No. 2 won its first game of the season, 8 to 6. The winners scored in every inning but one.

Although they have failed to win a single game this year, the First Reformed nine last night gave United Brethren a run for their money. The last place team was defeated, 5 to 4, when the Brethrens scored five runs in the fifth inning.

Outside the fact that Christians No. 2 scored a total of 25 runs, their engagement with Lutherans was quite a battle. The final score was 25 to 1.

Calvary is expected to increase its lead in Sunday School league No. 1 tonight when they play the Presbyterians at Sok Mills. Christian No. 1 will have a hard battle with Wesley at Lincoln. Other games scheduled for tonight are: Epworth vs. Epworth Seniors at Central; Trinity vs. St. Mary's at Fairfield.

Last night's scores follow:

Lee Street ..... 201 102 0—6
Epworth Juniors ..... 100 021 0—4
Fritz, Burke and Conkle, Shults and Wolf.

Forest Lawn ..... 200 003 1—6

KEEPING PACE

Babe Wallops Thirty-first Homer of Season Against Senators

NEW YORK, July 3—Despite a lame back and a wrenched shoulder, Babe Ruth is keeping pace with his ambition to hit 70 home runs this year. The big Yankee's thirty first homer of the current campaign, made against Garland Braxton at Washington yesterday, puts him one past the half way mark of his 1927 record and the Yanks have played only 69 of their 154 games. The Bam is 24 games, 22 days and six homers ahead of his last years record pace.

COMISKEY ERRORS IN ENLARGING PARK

White Sox Manager Buys Himself $123,000 Player To Draw Customers

By FRANK G. MENKE

Charley Comiskey bought himself a $123,000 ball player last Winter and decided that his park really wasn't large enough to hold the influx of customers.

So he enlarged it.

That was his error.

The attendance figures for the White Sox this year indicate that he should have chopped about 25,000 seats out of his old park and sold them for kindling wood.

While the Cubs are turning 'em away out in Chicago, the Sox have been playing to "crowds" so small that the White Sox squad almost can count the cash customers on its digits.

WASH YOUR SHIRT

That's the Way Combs Found His Hitting Stride This Season

If you are in a slump, if things are going bloole-bloole-if nothing is right why don't you try getting your shirt washed?

The Yankee outfielder got away to a good start this Spring then he hit the doldrums. That's all he could hit. He was so remotely removed from hits that he came to conclude that safety wallops must be myths.

One day he took a look at his shirt. It had been a white one at the commencement of the season. Now its hue was reminiscent of the type of shirts worn by the Fascisti over in Italy. So he sent it to a laundry one of those overnight places. The next day he appeared in a nice clean shirt.

Ever since then he's been hitting at a terrific rate.

QUIET DAY

Wimbledon, Eng., July 3—This was a quiet day in the British Lawn tennis championship tournament, being devoted to clearing up the events in the doubles. P. D. B. Spence and Miss Elizabeth Ryan beat John F. Hennessey and Miss Helen Jacobs, 6-3, 6-3 in the second round of the mixed doubles. Spence is a South African, the others are Americans.

17 WOMEN PICKED TO REPRESENT U. S.

Alternates May Be Named for Selections of Olympic Swimming Squad

New York, July 3. The team of 17 women named by the Olympic swimming committee to represent the United States at Amsterdam may be increased by the addition of alternates, it was learned today. The alternates will consist of several stars who did not show their real abilets until they competed in the National A. A. U. championships yesterday, after the team had been picked.

The 17 women chosen were:

Swimmers: Martha Norelius, Ethel McGary, Eleanor Holm, Agnes Geraghty and Adelaide Lambert, of New York; Susan Laird and Josephine McKim, Homestead, Pa.; Jane Fauntz, Illinois Women's A. C., Chicago, Alberta Osipowitch, Worcester, Mass.; Gertrude Hoffman, Kingston, Pa.; Eleanor Garatti, San Rafael, Cal.; Marion Gilman, Alameda, Cal.

Divers: Misses Helen Meany, New York; Georgia Coleman, Los Angeles A. C.; Dorothy Poynton, Pasadena AA. C.; Miss Clarita Buntzberger, Los Angeles; Mrs. Betty Pinkston, Detroit.

Seven world's long course records were broken in the national champion ships at Rockaway Beach. Miss Norelius won the one mile in 24 49 2-5 and swam 880 yards in 12.47 2-5.

Miss Gisa Lindstorm of New York, established a new record of 3 03 2-5 for the 220 yard backstroke event, broke the 200 meter record of 3 03 4-5, and bettered the furlong standard of 3.11.

Miss Norelius covered 220 yards in 2 43 2-5 in the 880 yard relay. The Misses Lindstrom, Holm and McGary helped her set a new record of 11 10 3-5 for the full distance.

FINAL TRYOUTS FOR OLYMPIC MEET HELD

Stars of Country Brought Together; Expect New Records

Philadelphia, July 3. The final olympic tryouts and national championships that begin this morning in the Sesqui stadium here under the auspices of the Penn A. C. brought together some of the greatest athletes in the world.

Spencer, Walter, Barbuti, Toerner, Baird and Alderman, in the 400 meter event have bettered 48 seconds while Kennedy, of Illinois, ran within a foot of Alderman last Saturday when he did 48 seconds on a slow track. There are 34 entries in this event and the slowest of them has done 49 seconds.

In the 400 meter hurdles Johnny Gibson, the world record holder is the favorite. Twenty-four quarter mile hurdlers are entered.

The decathlon started this morning with the 100 meter dash.

Fant Elkins, the big national decathlon champion, is faced with the task of retaining his honors in the event. Plansky of Georgetown and Barney Berlinger, Pennsylvania's sensational freshman are also favored. The first four men to place have been promised trips to Amsterdam.

Why is it that people who profess to like hot weather are so much less irritating than those who profess to like the zero kind?

Relaxation Noted In Money Market As With New Rate

INDUSTRIAL LEADERS SHOW HIGHER PRICES

Funds Avaiable at Six Per Cent After Four-Point Drop

MOTOR INDUSTRY GOOD

Active Buying Reported Stimulated; Radio Up Six

BY W. S. COUSINS
International News Service
Financial Editor

New York, July 3—Relaxation in the money market made its appearance today in the form of a six per cent call loan rate, compared with yesterday's 10 per cent charge, a cessation of loan calling by the New York banking institutions and the influx of funds to Wall Street from various outside sources.

Relieved of the money pressure the stock market was inclined to rally from yesterday closing reaction, though the proximity of a holiday, with the closing of the security markets and the ushering in of the mid-summer dull season, has the effect of restricting speculative activity in all but a few of the industrial leaders. General Motors, Radio, U. S. Steel and other industrial favorites moved up quite easily on a comparatively small turnover indicating the absence of selling orders in the market and the improvement in the market's technical position.

Business and industrial reports and comment were generally favorable. All of the well known motor car manufacturers have had a very profitable first-half-year and the outlook for the second half of 1928, judging from orders already on their books is extremely bright.

Output of Chevrolet cars is again in record-breaking volume and the same can be said for a number of the higher-priced products of the "steel corporation of the motor trade."

Confidence in the further easing up of the money market by mid-month stimulated active buying of the market favorites shortly after the noon period. General Motors moved up spiritedly to above 190 for a five-point gain and Radio was up six points at 183.

Recoveries in the tire and rubber stocks followed the reports of stiffening prices for manufactured rubber goods, and U. S. Rubber sold up more than two points.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meats, Grain, Livestock

New celery was an offering of dealers today. Although small stalks, the quality was good and dealers were asking 10 cents a bunch. The celery was the first to be received from the celery fields near Willard. Vegetable prices showed little change today, supplies were apparently ample and dealers report buying to be normal. New potatoes continue to flood the market and bottom prices prevailed. No. 1 stock could be bought today as low as 24 cents a peck, the lowest price that has prevailed at this time of the season for many years, dealers point out.

Cabbage holds at five cents a pound, the supply is large and dealers report an increase in the demand. Peas and beans are fairly plentiful, the former were selling today at three pounds for 25 cents and the latter at 18 cents or two for 35.

A few southern huckleberries were on the market today that were moving slowly at 40 cents a quart. California fruit prices were steady. Peaches were selling at 25 cents a basket, cherries at 40 cents a pound and apricots and plums at 15 and 25 cents. Watermelons were scarce and high on the market today. Only a few were being carried and dealers were asking $1 each for melons that were selling at from 65 to 80 cents last week. A sudden skyrocketing of prices by the large commission men is said by dealers to be the cause of the sudden advance. Strawberries were practically off the market today, only a few were being carried that were selling at 25 cents. The quality was inferior. Pineapples were also becoming scarce and dealers were quoting prices of 20 to 30 cents a single fruit or from $2.75 to $3.25 a dozen.

HANGS SELF

Ill Health Believed To Have Prompted Act

Birmingham, Ala., July 3—Authorities today continued to investigate the case of Jack Bethea, 38, editor of the Birmingham Post, who took his life here yesterday in a hotel room without leaving an explanation.

Illness was the motive of several people.

Meanwhile, the report of ill health was believed to have been the cause of Bethea's hanging himself in a clothes closet of the hotel. He asked the room adjoining that to be assigned to a negro and an hour later his body was discovered by a maid dangling from a clothes rack. Bethea leaves a widow and a young daughter.

TODAY'S REVIEW OF YESTERDAY'S MARKET

Chicago, July 3—What was up at Liverpool early yesterday 4 to 5 cents and the local market responded with an opening bulge of 1½ to 2 cents. Longs sold out and all during the session bears pounded the market.

At the close wheat was up ½@⅝c; corn was ⅝ higher to ⅜ lower; oats were ⅜ lower to ⅝ higher; rye was off ⅝ to 1.

The news that Russia is in the world market buying wheat on a big scale, which accounted for the great strength in Liverpool, did not register powerfully with local professionals. They were not yet ready to believe that a big bull wheat market is in the making.

It should be no great surprise if again this morning the Liverpool market is up and strong at the opening. Our market has been pretty well cleaned out again and sentiment is bearish.

Watch Wheat Today

On an easing off early wheat may be an excellent purchase. Today it may start upward and not come back again to let to shorts in who sell it. The session will be a short one. The market will close at 12 o'clock and not reopen until Thursday morning after the July Fourth holiday.

Private crop reporters issued their estimates yesterday after the first hour of trading. Although about as expected by the trade the reports appeared to be of a distinctly bullish nature in view of the world situation. This country seems likely to be at least 100,000,000 bushels under last year's production in its total wheat crop.

The United States government reports that "Estimates or forecasts of wheat production in 1928 from 11 countries total 1,421,000,000 bushels, against 1,570,000,000 in 1927, when these countries represented approximately 45 per cent of the estimated world wheat production excluding Russia and China."

Canadian Crop Bugaboo

The Canadian crop is the big bugaboo to the trade in this country, but before this month is out the situation in Canada may change from one of great promise to the prospect of a smaller yield than last year.

Selling wheat short at this level looks to this writer highly dangerous, irrespective of small declines and recurrent appearance of market weakness.

The same thing appears to be true to a greater degree of rye.

Corn was erratic yesterday and drew a lot of selling toward the close, after its earlier strength. It seems to be a dangerous market. It does not look like a good sale.

Every one in this country can see that the prospects for the 1928 corn crop are brilliant. Every one could see those prospects for the last two months. To suppose that immediate traders have not already acted on that view is illogical. December corn especially has been consistently sold.

Anything that would stimulate buying might put some shorts in a bad hole and one hard to get out of.

SUFFERS BURNS

Glen A. Crook Scalded While Draining Hot Water Tank

Glen A. Crook, 809 Sheridan rd., is in City hospital suffering from severe burns he sustained about noon yesterday while draining a tank of hot water in the plumbing department at the Erie Roundhouse. Although painful, his injuries are not regarded as serious. The left side of his face, his left arm and leg were burned.

The shabbier and more unlucky looking a shack or cabin may be, the more horse shoes nailed over the door.

TWO MINERS HELD ON CHARGES OF ATTACK

Men Released on $500 Bond, Waive Hearing in Court

Bellaire, July 3—Adolph Pacifico, vice-president of the east Ohio subdivision of the United Mine Workers and Nash Fulon, an idle mine worker, were at liberty under $500 bond each here today following an alleged attack on two non-union miners at the McClainsville mine of the Ideal and River Coal Co., near here yesterday. Both waived a hearing, police reported.

Frank Sabatino and Frank Wolkovich, the men attacked, made the complaint which resulted in the union miners' arrest.

The McClainsville mine is being prepared to resume employing members of the "save the union" faction who were ousted from the United Mine Workers for opposing the Lewis strike policy.

NEW TRIAL GRANTED IN ALIMONY ACTION

Sympathetic Attitude of Juror Given as Basis of Court Decision

money suit toward the defendant because of similar marital difficulties caused Justice Frederick L. Siddons to grant a new trial to Mrs. Lillian B. Gates, of Katonah, N. Y., in her action against her former husband, Nathaniel L. Hazelton of this city, for $100,000 alimony.

In the jury room at the close of the trial, according to affidavits filed by the woman's attorney, Richard A. Baker, a juror, pointed to the plaintiff and said to the other jurors: "Mrs. Hazelton, Baker or not, is a nice girl to me." The rest of the jury was enlightened. Mrs. Gates alleges, and forthwith a vote was taken, that it stood 9 to 3 in favor of a verdict for the plaintiff.

DEDICATION EVENT

Many Americans On Hand for Louvain Library Ceremony

Louvain, Belgium, July 3—Large numbers of foreign visitors, including many Americans, are arriving here today for the dedication of the new Louvain library program. The possibility of rioting was believed to have lured some of the visitors. American interest in the library is more than passing because the $1,000,000 required for its restoration was obtained by popular subscription in the United States and the building was designed by an American architect, Whitney Warren.

As a result of the controversy over the inscription there will be no wording on the facade. Monsignor Ladeuze, whose faction opposed the original inscription, was a passenger in his car displayed. The inscription was "The stronghold by German force, restored by American generosity."

Another Big Treat For "Just Kids Club" Promised in Letter From Park Manager

(By Just Kids Safety Club Editor)

AGAIN the editor of the Just Kids Safety Club can make the hearts of the members beat just a little faster.

Listen to this: It came to The Star office this morning. Some letters are of no particular importance, but not this one. Read it and you'll agree that it conveys some real news:

"Marion, Ohio, July 2, 1928.

"To the Editor of the 'Just Kids Safety Club:'

"Will you tell the members of the 'Just Kids Safety Club' for me that on Monday, July 16, we are going to have another big Kid party at Crystal Lake Park, which will be known as 'Three-Cent Day,' and that we are planning on a bigger and better time than we had before, if it's possible.

"Tell them to watch the paper night by night for special announcements and for any information that Mr. Addison Bain might want to give them.

"Tell them to get their buttons ready and not let anything interfere with their being there on the date. We are bound to make their membership in the 'Just Kids Safety Club' worth while.

"We do want to do everything we can for the kiddies' vacation so that when school starts they can feel refreshed and say they had the best summer vacation of their lives.

"Thanks kindly for telling the kiddies for us.

Yours very truly,

"The Crystal Lake Park Co.,

(signed) Fred B. Sobert,

Secretary."

Now! The cat's out of the bag, and you know the secret.

From tonight on, you must keep close tab on The Star and be sure not to miss a single edition, for just as sure as you do, that will be the night that something worthwhile about your party will be printed.

The only thing you have to do now is shine up your Safety Club button and start saving pennies. Do all the family errands, work out, if necessary, anything to make three cents once in a while.

Don't forget!

COURT COLLECTIONS HIGH DURING MONTH

Total of $2,137.30 in Fines and Costs Gathered by Municipal Judge in June

Municipal court receipts for the month of June hit the high spot of the year when $2,137.30 was collected in fines and costs, according to the report for the month completed by Deputy Clerk Madeline Cahill, yesterday. Total collection during the month of May was $1,653.73.

Of the $2,137.30 collected during June, the city received a total of $1,775.80 including $1,512.80 collected in criminal cases and $262.80 in civil cases. The county received $313 and the state $48.50 in state cases.

Despite an increase of 15 in the number of arrests during the month over that of May, there were eight fewer arrests for intoxication. The total number of arrests during June was 79 compared to 64 the preceding month. The number picked up for intoxication during June was 27 compared to 35 last month. Intoxication led in the causes of arrests, however.

Non-support cases were unusually common during the month, 14 having been arrested on this charge. Three of these were for failure to support aged parents. There were also five arrests for illegal possession of intoxicating liquor and one for transporting. Four were arrested for driving an automobile while intoxicated, three for giving bad checks, two for petit larceny and two for automobile stealing.

LARGE ATTENDANCE

Tent Meetings at Salem Evangelical Church Draws Crowds

Beech, July 3—The camp meetings which are in progress at the tent near the Salem Evangelical church are being well attended.

Evangelist Edna Boougher Hughs, of Lancaster, preached a series of inspiring sermons. Sunday morning she took for her theme the story of her life and how she was called to preach. Special numbers in song were given by Rev. and Mrs. J. E. Campbell, the male chorus and a solo by Miss Donna Belle Ruth, of Cardington.

The attendance is increasing with each service, Sunday night being the largest.

Services will be held every night this week except Saturday night, at 8:15 o'clock. Sunday, July 8, there will be three services morning, afternoon and night.

The Cardington male chorus will be present Tuesday night and will sing. Also the male chorus of Marion will be present one night in the services.

SAYS MONARCHISM DYING IN GERMANY

Grave Dug for Old Rule by Election of Von Hindenburg, Deputy Asserts

Berlin, July 3—A political sensation was caused in Germany today by an address for a Nationalist magazine by Nationalist Reichstag deputy [illegible], who declared that Field Marshal Von Hindenburg, president of the German republic, is the grave for German monarchism.

[illegible] section of the population for Von Hindenburg [illegible] grave," the writer declared. "Kaisers are no longer hallowed and venerable persons and institutions to our growing youth and future voters. To our growing youth they have become figures fit only for the stage and the film."

The sensation was heightened by the fact that restoration of the monarchy is the first principle of the Nationalist party.

Lambach demands that the Nationalists abandon their monarchist principles and accept conservative Republicans into membership.

"Kreuzzeitung," the official organ of Count Westarp, leader of the Nationalist party, regrets that the fundamental principles of the party are being made an issue, "because the party has more pressing cares at this moment."

CLUB ORGANIZED BY TURNER SUPPORTERS

Columbus, July 3—Announcement was made today of the issuance by Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown of article of incorporation to the Turner-for-Governor club of Hamilton county.

The club, the charter declared, was organized for the purpose of promoting and furthering "the cause of the Republican party and more particularly, the cause of Edward C. Turner's candidacy for Governor of Ohio and everything necessary and incident thereto."

PLAN FLYING BOAT SERVICE FOR CITIES

Company Proposes Routes Between Detroit, Cleveland and Buffalo

Cleveland, July 3—Flying boats, carrying 26 passengers, will ply between Cleveland, Detroit and Buffalo within a year, providing satisfactory equipment can be obtained, according to announcement of A. A. Schantz, president of the D. & C. Navigation Co.

Representatives of the company now are in Germany investigating the possibility of a German-made flying boat meeting the necessary requirements for such service, Schantz declared.

Present plans call for each boat to carry a crew of four—pilot, navigator, mechanic and radio operator—in addition to the 26 passengers, it was said. The hull of each boat would be constructed of metal, with a double bottom and air tight compartments.

One of the most attractive and up-to-date suites of office rooms has been leased by a corps of Marion doctors and dentists in the new Palace theater building, West Center st., now nearing completion. The rooms will house what their tenants propose to be one of the most thorough and complete clinics for the diagnosis and treatment of diseases in the state. Occupants of the rooms will be Dr. A. J. Willey, Dr. E. O. Richardson, Dr. Filmore Young and Dr. E. W. Imbody.

The offices will be ready for occupancy Sept. 1, according to the plans of the contractors, McGrath & Co., Columbus, and E. E. Evans, Chicago, architect. The plumbing is being installed by T. M. Cunningham, of this city.

The equipment to be installed will include complete laboratory aids to diagnosis and treatment, including chemical and clinical laboratories, radium, x-ray with high voltage deep therapy for malignancy, electro-cardiograph and polygraph, ultra violet ray and diathermy.

Dr. A. J. Willey, formerly of Delaware, who has been a resident here for more than 10 years, and is recognized as one of the leading surgeons in the central part of the state, will limit his work to operative surgery, consultation and treatment of goiter, both medically and surgically.

Dr. E. O. Richardson has been located here for 25 years, is one of the most active members in the medical societies in the state. He will continue his specialization in treatment of eye, ear, nose and throat ailments.

Dr. Filmore Young, who specializes in internal medicine and who is recognized as one of the leading diagnosticians in heart disease in the central states, will occupy one of the larger sections of the suite, which will afford ample space for his extensive laboratories and diagnosis equipment. Dr. Young has taken his post graduate work in a number of the leading clinics of the world.

Another section will be occupied by Dr. E. W. Imbody, who has been practicing dentistry here since 1913. He studied pharmacy at Ohio Northern University and graduated in the dental department of the Indiana University in 1913. He will specialize in oral surgery and x-ray work. Dr. Imbody is a member of the local central Ohio and Ohio State National Dental societies.

Dollar Psychology Cause of Business Depressions In Country, Speaker Says

Two Economic Fallacies in Business Administration Pointed Out to Rotary Club Members by James M. Matthews, of Babson Institute, at Luncheon

Dollar psychology, a form of weakness which causes staid business men to do foolish things in times of great prosperity was declared by James M. Matthews, director of distribution of the Babson Institute at Babson Park, Mass., to be largely responsible for the periods of depression which the country undergoes at regular intervals, at the weekly luncheon of the Rotary club held at the Hotel Harding yesterday.

"Although our modern business is highly professionalized, scientific, and intensive, we have still maintained in our business administration two economic fallacies namely, a money or dollar psychology, and a commercial and industrial provincialism. It is largely due to these two fallacies that we have business irregularity and lack of stabilization," the speaker declared.

"It is thinking in terms of the dollar rather than in terms of the commodity or service which in times of great expansion tempts even the most idealistic employer to 'make a killing while the killing is good.' It induces the financier to make loans when he ought to discourage them. It leads ten employe to emphasize his nominal wage rather than his efficiency of production. It impells the general consumer to spread his apparently high income without any degree of discrimination whatsoever," Matthews maintained.

"It is at such a time that great business associations with loan ideals and worthy economic aims could prevent the wild stampede by putting these ideals and aims into practical operation.

"Our economic provincialism is still evident nationally in our disposition to run our business here as firms and as industries without regard to anyone else. 'Every man for himself and the devil take the hindmost' is still too strongly an American policy. In international affairs this provincialism is even more strongly indicated. In our failure to grasp the idea that our own prosperity is wrapped up absolutely in the revival and reorganization of the rest of the world."

BLAMES LEGISLATURE FOR PRISON PROBLEM

Lack of Funds May Shut Off Employment of Convicts, Harper Says

Columbus, July 3—Fear of inability to furnish employment for all prisoners at the London prison farm was expressed in a letter addressed by Welfare Director John E. Harper to Governor Vic Donahey, received at the governor's office yesterday.

Harper attributed the situation to the action of the last state legislature which, he said, transferred $555,000 from the state welfare department's manufacturing and sales rotary fund to the state's general revenue fund "in order to bolster up" the revenue fund. Harper claimed that, as a result, the legislators depleted "our working capital the surplus of which we had expected to use in expanding our prison industries in our four penal institutions."

"Prison industries were, in this manner, penalized and crippled for having a surplus working capital, a vital factor and essential in the further extension of prison industries to provide employment for the ever-increasing prison population," said Harper. "Such action was taken regardless of the fact that a written statement was made outlining the contemplated extensions, including the London prison farm, covering a period of two years. These contemplated extensions would have given employment to 1,000 additional prisoners."

EXCURSIONS BEING OFFERED BY ROADS

New System of Special Trains Started by Railroad Systems Through Marion

The matter of selecting an ideal vacation spot, especially to those few not owning automobiles, is being made easy by railroads operating through Marion. Attractive excursion schedules to many famous beauty spots of the country are being offered.

As a Fourth of July special, the Pennsylvania is running a train to Sandusky with connections for Cedar Point.

A new system of excursions to all points between and including Youngstown and Dayton on the Erie has been started.

Under this plan tickets are sold on Saturday good for returning not later than the following Monday. These tickets are good on all Erie trains to any city on the road between the above mentioned points. The last excursion under this plan will be run on July 22 but it is considered likely that the date will be extended to Sept. 30.

Leaving Marion at 4:55 o'clock Sunday morning, an excursion will be run to Cleveland by the Big Four railroad. A boat ride on Lake Erie is one of the feature attractions offered.

Detroit will be the destination of a Hocking Valley excursion on Sunday. The train will leave Marion at 1 o'clock Sunday morning.

New Rails Laid

City, interurban and freight cars of the C. L. & M. are being routed over the new stretch of track today for the first time since Saturday night when new rails were laid between the Hocking Valley and Pennsylvania railroads.

The auxiliary tracks, used for some time since paving work on West Center st. was started, are being torn up. New rails east of the Pennsylvania crossing were used for the first time Sunday although passengers were required to walk across to the west side of the Hocking Valley to make connections with cars running south on Davids st.

To Start Work

Construction work will start within a short time in double tracking the Hocking Valley railroad from Fostoria north to Walbridge. When all rail is laid the Hocking Valley will be double tracked from Columbus to Toledo. Twenty-two miles of new yard tracks are to be constructed in Walbridge.

SMITH GETS URGENT PLEAS FOR SPEECHES

Democratic Candidate Considers Requests from Many Localities

Mountain next Tuesday, he will remain overnight at the state national guard camp.

Reports that some of the southern Democratic leaders have requested that Franklin D. Roosevelt be named national chairman will cause no change, it is understood, in Governor Smith's belief that Senator Peter Goelet Gerry, of Rhode Island, should be given that post.

Another guest today at the Biltmore was Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury and one of the most powerful supporters of the candidacy of Herbert Hoover. Mellon and Smith have not met, however. Mellon came here to confer with influential Republicans.

A "strong bone-dry state ticket" was the object today upon which Republican leaders were working.

WORKS ON BUDGET

Hoover Deserts Politics Temporarily to Handle Official Business

Washington, July 3—Herbert Hoover deserted politics momentarily today to draw up the commerce department's new budget.

He was assisted by Walter E. Brown of Toledo, assistant commerce secretary, who, according to persistent reports, will succeed Hoover in the cabinet.

Hoover's acceptance speech has been completed in rough draft. He still wants to consult with a number of political advisers before he completes it.

The Republican national headquarters in the Barr building, from which the Hoover-Curtis campaign will be conducted, are the most elaborate ever set up for a presidential campaign. There are 40 rooms and offices which occupy the entire fourth floor. Work of moving into the new offices is practically completed.

OHIO AFTER AL

Will Be Asked To Address State Convention Aug. 24

Mansfield, O., July 3—Governor Alfred E. Smith, chosen Democratic standard bearer in the coming presidential contest will open his Ohio campaign with an address before the assembled delegates to the Ohio state democratic convention at Columbus on August 24, providing the presidential nominee's consent can be obtained, it was announced here today.

Henry G. Brunner, chairman of the Democratic state central committee, who will extend a personal invitation to Governor Smith to open the convention, indicated he expected Smith will accept the invitation as the switch of the Ohio delegates at the national convention at Houston assured the New York governor's nomination on the first ballot.

Should Governor Smith accept the invitation, Brunner said, he will make no speeches other than at the August 24 engagement on this visit but plans to come to Ohio for several speeches later in the campaign.

Brunner is making plans to attend the Democratic national committee meeting to be held in New York on August 11.

The [illegible] of the West Center st., [illegible] were made brighter today when workmen started removing the [illegible] used by the street cars during the laying of the new track. The auxiliary track occupied the south side of the street and with the north side in the course of construction, merchants affected by their business had been forced to the south, and a committee carried a protest to Mayor Earl Hazen several weeks ago.

The new track, which rests on a 12-inch [illegible] base, was connected at each end yesterday and the auxiliary track was abandoned. In the absence of the car switches which were formerly a part of the West Center st. line, the cars are using the spurs leading into the new interurban station for switching space.

Work on the repaving of the north side of the street is progressing more rapidly. Excavation has been practically completed from the Pennsylvania tracks to rock at and preparations are being made to start pouring concrete at the west end of the improvement.

police that he had an accomplice who had assisted him in getting away.

Find Ball Bat

The burglar had gone prepared to defend himself against any interference, a ball bat being found in the Lucas kitchen. A pair of trousers, $4 in cash and a bunch of keys were taken from the Lucas home, where members of the family had slept through the visit of the burglar and knew nothing of the affair until they were awakened by the sound of the shot.

It is believed the burglar was the same who visited the Ralph Solinger home on Monroe st. Sunday night and removed a pair of new trousers, containing $11 in one of the pockets, a ladies gold watch and a small bag containing money. Entrance to the Solinger home was gained through a pantry window.

FIVE PERSONS DIE AS STORMS HIT STATES

Damage Estimated at $1,000,000 Done to Crops and Buildings

Minneapolis, July 3—Five persons were killed and property damage that will run over $1,000,000 was caused by wind storms of cyclonic proportions that swept over four Northwest states early Monday, a checkup revealed today. Most of the damage was to farming communities where crops were laid low by wind and hail.

The storm struck in Minnesota, Wisconsin, North and South Dakota. The velocity of the wind was estimated in excess of 70 miles an hour. Rain, lightning and thunder accompanied the wind.

Lightning was responsible for two of the five persons killed, while the other three deaths resulted from the collapse of buildings.

SAFE MAJORITY FOR HOOVER IS REPORTED

Work Says Republican Will Be Next U. S. President

Chicago, July 3—"A safe majority for Herbert Hoover, which will make him the next president of the United States."

That was the prophecy ventured here today by Hubert Work, chairman of the Republican national committee, who came from the summer White House at Brule where he conferred with President Coolidge and handed in his resignation as secretary of the interior.

Work offered that prediction after conferring with a number of middle-western leaders here.

Asked how much of a majority he would expect, Work said: "I am no soothsayer, but it will be enough. Work then rather facetiously told the story credited to Abraham Lincoln who was asked how long a man's legs should be. The reply, Work quoted was that "they should be long enough to reach the ground."

Louis L. Emmerson, secretary of state and candidate for governor of Illinois, sent his regrets over his inability to attend the meeting here owing to the funeral of his friend, Bert Johnson, of Kewanee.

President Coolidge and his backing will aid in putting Hoover over, Work said. The methods to be used by the chief executive were not disclosed by the secretary of the interior. Work said he believed Coolidge's vacation was doing the president a "world of good."

DYNAMITE ATTACK DAMAGES HOMES

Hurled from Moving Motor Car at Dwellings in Ohio Mine District

Athens, O., July 3—Dynamite thrown from a moving motor car damaged two homes at Chauncey, six miles north of here today, according to county authorities who are investigating the blasts.

The first residence dynamited was that of Frank Schoonover, who with three members of the family were in the house. The charge fell short of the porch, injuring no one.

The second stick of dynamite was thrown at the home of Andrew Heading. Damage was not great. None of the members of the Heading family were at home.

Schoonover is said to have been circulating petitions urging miners to go to work on the 1917 wage scale. Heading said that the attempt to blast his home was probably due to his non-union sympathies, according to the police.

The chancellor said that Germany has relinquished any possible thought of revenge.

CLUB MEMBERS GET INVITATION TO PARK

Birdhouse Built by Addison Bain To Be Raised at Crystal Lake, Wednesday

Members of the "East Kids Safety Club" and all other boys and girls in this city have been extended a special invitation to Crystal Lake Park the Fourth of July. At 4 o'clock in the afternoon the birdhouse built by Addison Bain will be officially raised. This was promised the club members at the party on June 11, but because of an error in making the supports it could not be done then. All club members are asked to be present Wednesday and help in the ceremonies.

Mr. Bain will be there to direct the play and has especially asked that the girls come and enjoy the new playhouse he has made in his office. Dolls, doll carriages, toys of all kinds, in fact, a Santa Claus shop, has been set up by Mr. Bain for the kiddies to play in.

Priest Stands Guard at Church in Path of Flow from Volcano

Manila, July 3—The town of Labog, at the base of Mayon Volcano, appeared to be doomed today as the flow of lava slowly crept toward it, obliterating vegetation in its wake.

Only one inhabitant remains in the town, a priest who is standing guard over the village church.

Looting has broken out in the deserted villages at the foot of the mountain. Native gangs, armed with bolos, are breaking into houses and stores, according to word received here.

Two cases of cholera have been reported from refugee camps.

Governor General Stimson acted today to notify relief measures. He has asked that a destroyer be held in readiness to go to the devastated area. The coast guard cutter Pollik has already cleared from here with a load of rice.

Father Selga, chief of the weather bureau, and Vincente Del Rosario, chief executive of the bureau, have been ordered to go to Mayon, to head the staff of relief officials.

BEGG ASSIGNS CAUSE OF OHIO DEBT BOOST

Divided Government Given as Reason for 500 Per Cent Increase

Niles, O., July 3—Ohio's public debt today is 500 per cent greater than it was eight years ago, Congressman James Begg of Sandusky declared here today in speaking before the Kiwanis club.

The reason for this increase, the Republican candidate for the gubernatorial nomination said, is that our state government is divided, and has so prevented cooperation and a sound business administration.

Begg pointed out that during the last 24 years, with the exception of two administrations, Ohio has had a governor of one political faith and a legislature predominated by the other.

He pointed to the present administration at Washington and declared that the national administration in eight years has reduced federal taxes by almost two billions.

OHIO CITY TO BAN DANCE MARATHON

Cincinnati Police Chief Orders Plans for Endurance Event Stopped

Cincinnati, July 3—This city will not be the scene of a dance marathon if Chief of Police William Copelan has his way.

Inspired by the monetary successes of long distance terpsichorean contests held in other cities, two Chicago promoters have announced their intention of inaugurating a similar event in Music Hall here on the night of July 7, and have inserted advertisements in the newspapers to that effect, according to police.

"We have a clause in our city ordinance which reads that all dance halls must close at midnight," Copeland declared, and forthwith ordered the proposed marathon stopped.

What action, if any, is contemplated by the Chicago marathon promoters, Glasscock and Schultz, has not been ascertained.

All good things come to him who waits; and they pass right on by if he doesn't grab them.

SHIP WRECKED

British Cruiser Caught in Rocks Expected To Be Total Loss

Halifax, N. S., July 3—The British cruiser Dragon, which struck on Thrumb Cap Shoals, eight miles east of Halifax late yesterday, probably will be a total loss, according to crews of lighters returning early today from the shoals.

The ship struck in a dense fog and was held fast amidships, with rocks piercing her hull. Her compartments soon filled with water.

The combined efforts of five tugs and the rising tide failed to float the boat. If a storm comes up, mariners fear she will be swept off into deep water, as she is exposed to the open sea.

New York City's dance marathon was brought to an end by the city's health authorities when nine couples had gone 151 hours. It may be well to state, to prevent misunderstanding, that the department's concern was for the health of the dancers rather than for the lack of mental health displayed by patrons, as naturally might be assumed.

It is pleasing to have a view expressed recently in these columns thus supported, even though the support comes from thousands of miles away.

Safeguarding Against Fatalities.

Despite the campaigns which have been waged throughout the land, year after year, for safe and sane celebrations of the Fourth, there has been little recession in the number of accidents. In fact, in recent years there has been an annual increase, alike in the number of accidents and the number of fatalities resulting therefrom. Two years ago, the records show there were 161 deaths and 2,205 injuries suffered, the deaths exceeding those of the year before by fifty. Last year the number of people injured was 3,179 and the fatalities numbered 195, the deaths being almost double the fatalities of two years ago.

What the toll of injuries will be this year is purely a matter for conjecture, but what the toll of deaths will be will depend largely on the course of those of major years injured and that of the parents or companions of those of tender years who may figure in accidents.

At this hour, it is rather late to preach against the danger which lurks in the handling of fireworks of all kinds from the little firecracker or torp do to the biggest Roman candle or rocket, but it is not too late to urge that, should accident occur, the safest course is to take the one who has suffered the accident to some competent physician or surgeon, according to the nature of the injury suffered. Aside from mutilations, lockjaw is the most serious consequence of fireworks explosions, and lockjaw, if it develops, is far more serious than most mutilations suffered. Tetanus antitoxin should be administered as soon as possible—within a few hours—if available, and in the absence of antitoxin such steps should be taken as to make the chances of the development of tetanus as remote as possible.

Parents should realize that the difference between speedy professional attention and lack of attention in cases of fireworks injuries may prove the difference between life and death. If they can be brought to this understanding, then and in that event we may anticipate a dwindling in the death score resulting from fatalities preceding or during the celebration of the Fourth. Let us hope that every father and every mother, and every elder brother and elder sister, of a little one who may be injured by fireworks this evening or tomorrow will keep in mind the danger of letting the injury go without professional attention.

However, to many, his most pleasing portrayal was that of the bibulous lead in "Lo Lo Belasco's Journey."

Holbrook Blinn was [illegible] of the finest [illegible] of the stage of today. By some he was considered the finest actor and director of the times. His power was conceded by all his versatility generally admitted. Whether on the speaking stage or on the screen, his finish was unquestioned, and he always gave the best that was in him. Among his successes were "The Cat and the Canary," which he wrote, "Mr. Napoleon," "The Duchess of Dantzig," "The Gambler," "Salomy Jane," "Salvation Nell," "The Fool," and "The Passing Thing."

Robert Bruce Mantell, that Bruce gives a hint of his Scotch parentage, was the last of the old school players of Shakespearian and romantic roles, and he, unlike the majority of his school, attained financial success in them. His Shakespearian repertoire is said to have exceeded that of any actor since Edwin Booth, and he reaped great reward from it at a time when other actors suffered financial failure in presenting Shakespeare. His first distinct success was in the role of Ipanoff, which he played in support of Fanny Davenport in "Fedora." Then came a string of successes in which he was the featured actor, "Called Back," "Dekalar" and several others. He achieved stardom in "Darkest Lives" and continued with great success as a star in "A Marble Heart" and "Monbars" up to his greatest romantic success, "The Corsican Brothers." "The Louisianian," "The Fire in the Moonlight," "As You Like It," "The Dagger and the Cross," "Richelieu," "The Light of Others Days," "Richard III," "Macbeth," "King Lear," "The Merchant of Venice," "Julius Caesar" and "King John" followed in the order named, until he devoted himself almost exclusively to Shakespearean roles, of which he was very generally held the best exponent of his time.

One may delve back into the history of the stage for all time past and probably not find another four who achieved such honors on or in connection with it who passed away almost at a time. It is only by going over the lives and accomplishments of this four that that we may appreciate how much they contributed to make the stage what it once was, but which, unfortunately, it is no longer.

Miss Thea Rasche has abandoned her plan to fly the North Star to Germany. Of course, the American injunction didn't prevent her from hopping off from Canada, but what would have been the use of the flight if she couldn't come back and realize on it in vaudeville without having her profits attached to satisfy a judgment for breaking her contract with her former managers? And thus another blow is given the advancement of aviation.

An aviator up in St. Paul recently made eights "barrel rolls," a "barrel roll" being a maneuver in which the plane passes through the air with a screwlike motion and meanwhile continues its forward flight, establishing a new world record, the previous one being twenty-six. The Panama canal tolls for the fiscal year closed June 30 were $26,928,288, exceeding the previous record, that of 1924, by $2,647,325 and 850 vessels. There have been 46,832 transits since the opening of the canal in 1915, the tolls thereon being $193,291,516. It is interesting to recall that it was seriously questioned in many quarters, back at the time of the construction of the canal, whether its use would prove profitable.

Reduce the Acid

In sick stomachs—instantly

Sick stomachs, sour stomachs and indigestion usually mean excess acid. The stomach nerves are over-stimulated. Too much acid makes the stomach and intestines sour.

Alkali kills acid instantly. The best form is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, because one harmless, tasteless dose neutralizes many times its volume in acid. Since its invention, 50 years ago, it has remained the standard with physicians everywhere.

Take a spoonful in water and your unhappy condition will probably end in five minutes. Then you will always know what to do. Crude and harmful methods will never appeal to you. Go prove this for your own sake. It may save a great many disagreeable hours.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any druggists.

TO PLACE HARDING'S HISTORY IN RECORDS

Memory of Former President To Be Honored at Supreme Lodge Meeting

Pluto; George Miley, Imp. The guards were C. Drew, J. G. Mader, L. W. Ireland and John M. Schneider.

Of those who served on the degree team, the investigating committee and who were officers in the lodge during this time, only five are living. They are Dr. George T. Harding, Louis Scherff, Joseph Matthews, Geore B. Scofield and John M. Schneider.

Took Active Part

According to older members of the lodge Mr. Harding took an active part in affairs of Canby lodge during his permanent residence in Marion. He served actively in the esquire rank and on one occasion served as ninth senator on the knight rank degree team. While he was living permanently in Marion Mr. Harding delivered many memorial addresses in Knights of Pythias lodges in all parts of the state.

Mr. Harding last attended a meeting of Canby lodge on Jan. 4, 1921, about two months after he had been elected president of the United States. The meeting was a regular session of the lodge but was held in honor of the newly-elected president. Although Mr. Harding spoke briefly at this meeting his last address of importance before an audience of Pythians was at Garfield park at a county K. of P. reunion, held during the presidential campaign of 1920.

Forced To Resign

Mr. Harding united through the chair of Canby lodge but was forced to resign due to the burden of other duties after serving the regular term as master of arms. He was first elected to office as inner guard on June 1, 1887, less than two months after he received the rank of page. At the next regular election, six months later, he was elected master at arms. He served in this office until July 1, 1888.

Little did the keeper of records and seal of Canby lodge realize when he entered the application of Warren G. Harding in the lodge records that he was writing the beginning of the lodge history of one who was later to become president of the United States. The entry in the records, now yellow with age, were carefully written in longhand.

The entry follows:

"Warren G. Harding"

"Age 21 years on the 2nd of Nov. last past. Born at Blooming Grove, Morrow county, Ohio, Nov. 2nd, 1865. Occupation: Editor."

They evidently had realized their un intentional discourtesy and included her in their chatter. But the hurt, bewildered look was not yet wholly banished from her eyes.

"What do you say to some tennis?" Mary was asking. "Or," she turned to Mr. Veritzen, "do they have to go pretty soon?"

He waited for an instant before answering her, and I guessed that he was trying to choose the reply which would best suit the young princess upon whose marriage to his son his heart was so fatuously set.

"Their departure with me is not at all compulsory," he said a bit stiffly. "Otto can drive me back to the hotel and then come after them whenever they are ready. But"— turning to me—"are you sure that your son will not be disturbed by their playing?"

I knew that he wanted me to object to the game and thus further his set plan to keep Olina and Noel apart from the others. But I was only too glad for the opportunity to thwart him at any point of his ridiculous scheme.

"As the tennis court is two hundred feet from the side of the farmhouse opposite that in which Junior's room is situated," I said, "and as there is a thick lilac hedge between the house and the court, I am sure that he couldn't possibly be disturbed by the game."

He took his defeat gracefully, smiled impartially at me and at Mary.

"Then I see no reason why you should not have your tennis," he told her. "Perhaps you will let an old man watch you play for a little while?"

They chorused their courteous, apparently enthusiastic approval of his proposal, and he put another seemingly careless query.

"Which of your are partners?" he asked. "Do you play by chance or are you competing for a championship among yourselves?"

• • •

Philip Veritzen Assumes Command

There was a curiously hesitant delay in the answers of the little group of young people to Philip Veritzen's query. I wondered if each of them as to me had come the sense of something tense, purposeful, in the apparently casual question.

I know, of course, that he wished to find out whether Mary had obeyed his mandate neither to see not to speak to Noel beyond requirements of ordinary courtesy when in public. And I realized that Mary shared my knowledge when she spoke hastily.

"Oh! by chance, of course! But it's my luck to draw George most of the time in our doubles."

"Good or bad?" young Mr. Jackson asked, smiling, and Mary's reply was equally flippant.

"Take your choice," she said, and then Noel, who had not spoken since his return from summoning Otto, struck in with a proposal whose studied carelessness was belied by the look in his eyes.

"Suppose we begin today to settle the international championship?" he said. "Mary will you join with me in defending our national rights?"

I found my eyes on Mary's face, turned them away again quickly from the misery which her eyes mirrored. And my heart was hot against Philip Veritzen at the girl's low, hesitant reply.

"I'm afraid our national honor would trail in the dust, Noel, if you depended upon me to uphold it," she said. "I'm an awful dub at tennis. Better just let us go along the way we have. Then neither you nor George has to put up with me all the time."

I was glad that Otto's knock and his employer's curt summons to come in, effectually prevented the emphatic disclaimers which both young men were beginning. I did not care to have Philip Veritzen witness any more proofs of the decided preference of both young men for Dicky's niece, with Princess Olina playing the role of second violin—I guessed for the first time in her pampered, sheltered young life.

"You have kept us waiting, Otto," Mr. Veritzen said sternly.

"I am very sorry, sir," the man replied. "But I could not come into the house after changing a tire without—"

Mr. Veritzen made an impatient gesture.

"I have no time for explanations," he said curtly, and I saw the man's face flush, wondered what necessity kept him from openly resenting the employer's arrogance. "I want you to carry these things up to the little boy's room. That is," turning to me with so marked a difference in manner that I felt uncomfortable, "if you think we have not delayed so long as to make the visit unadvisable."

"Oh, no," I disclaimed quickly. "Indeed," I added, with the hope of lessening Otto's discomfiture, "I don't think Mrs. Bickett would have been ready for us before. But now, I am sure we can go up and how delighted Junior will be! Will you come this way, please?"

I led the way up the staircase, hearing as I went the chatter of the young quartet as they departed for the tennis court, openly exultant of the scheme Mary had devised of keeping an extra set of tennis shoes for each of them in a box upon the veranda. Thus they were enabled to snatch a game at a moment's notice, especially as they all wore sport clothing most of the time.

Junior was sitting up in bed watching the door when we entered and I saw his face fall as he realized that Mr. Veritzen held nothing in his hands.

"But, Mother!" he began, forgetting his training, in his disappointment. "I thought Aunt Katherine said——"

Otto's opportune entrance cut short his protest, much to my relief, and Junior gave an excited whoop.

"Oh, Mums, look!" he said. "It's like Christmas and Easter and birthdays all rolled into one."

GIRLS' WINNING CARD SELECTED

Movie World agrees chief allure is smooth skin!

HOLLYWOOD, CAL. — No matter what her type or what the role for which she is cast, film directors say there is one thing every girl in screenland must have—smooth, delightful skin. They agree with Howard Higgins, Pathé De Mille director, who declares that "It is the rare loveliness of their skin that has made girls of widely different types the most popular screen stars in the world."

The smooth perfection that the Klieg lights reveal in the close-ups, cannot be faked by make-up, says Hollywood. It must actually be as fine and soft as it looks.—"Studio Skin" they call this exquisite smoothness, and guard it carefully. Blanche Sweet says, "My first thought is always my skin, for the camera is all-revealing—Lux Toilet Soap keeps it velvet smooth."

This new soap is made by the method France perfected for her costliest soaps. All the big film studios have made it the official dressing room soap—Lux Toilet Soap is manufactured by Lever Bros., Cambridge, Mass.

FIGHTING against terrific odds, but held with a determination that showed the enemy no quarter—such was the spirit that bequeathed to us our Freedom.

The same spirit lives today. It manifested itself forcibly when American determination drove back the powerful foe to defeat in the World War.

That spirit of independence and determination still lives in 1930. It manifests itself in the overwhelming number and size of accounts built up by thrifty Americans who know the value of a reserve fund.

The Mystery at Styles

THE YEAR'S MOST BAFFLING SERIAL STORY

BY AGATHA CHRISTIE

CHAPTER 38

The trial of John Cavendish for the murder of his stepmother took place two months later.

Of the intervening weeks I will say little, but my admiration and sympathy went out unfeignedly to Mary Cavendish. She ranged herself passionately on her husband's side, scorning the mere idea of his guilt, and fought for him tooth and nail.

I expressed my admiration to Poirot, and he nodded thoughtfully.

"Yes, she is of those women, who show at their best in adversity. It brings out all that is sweetest and truest in them. Her pride and her jealousy have—"

"Jealousy?" I queried.

"Yes. Have you not realized that she is an unusually jealous woman? As I was saying, her pride and jealousy have been laid aside. She thinks of nothing but her husband, and the terrible fate that is hanging over him."

He spoke very feelingly, and I looked at him earnestly, remembering that last afternoon, when he had been deliberating whether or not to speak. With his tenderness for "a woman's happiness," I felt glad that the decision had been taken out of his hands.

"Even now," I said, "I can hardly believe it. You see, up to the very last minute, I thought it was Lawrence!"

Poirot grinned.

"I know you did."

"But John! My old friend John!"

"Every murder is probably somebody's old friend," observed Poirot philosophically. "You cannot mix up sentiment and reason."

"I must say I think you might have given me a hint."

"Perhaps, mon ami, I did not do so, just because he was your old friend."

I was rather disconcerted by this, remembering how I had busily passed on to John what I believed to be Poirot's views concerning Hauerstein. He, by the way, had been acquitted of the charge brought against him. Nevertheless, although he had been too clever for them this time, and the charge of espionage could not be brought home to him, his wings were pretty well clipped for the future.

I asked Poirot whether he thought John would be condemned. To my intense surprise, he replied that on the contrary, he was extremely likely to be acquitted.

"But, Poirot—" I protested.

"Oh, my friend, have I not said to you all along that I have no proofs. It is one thing to know that a man is guilty, it is quite another matter to prove him so. And, in his case, there is terribly little evidence. That is the whole trouble. I, Hercule Poirot, know, but I lack the last link in my chain. And unless I can find that missing link—" He shook his head gravely.

"When did you first suspect John Cavendish?" I asked, after a minute or two.

"Did you not suspect him at all?"

"No, indeed."

"Not after that fragment of conversation you overheard between Mrs. Cavendish and her mother-in-law, and her subsequent lack of frankness at the inquest?"

"No."

"Did you not put two and two together, and reflect that if it was not Alfred Inglethrop who was quarreling with his wife—and you remember, he strenuously denied it at the inquest—it must be either Lawrence or John. Now, if it was Lawrence, Mary Cavendish's conduct was just as inexplicable. Put if, on the other hand, it was John, the whole thing was explained quite naturally."

"So," I cried, a light breaking in upon me, "it was John who quarreled with his mother that afternoon."

"Exactly."

"And you have known this all along?"

"Certainly. Mrs. Cavendish's behavior could only be explained that way."

"And yet you say he may be acquitted?"

Poirot shrugged his shoulders.

"Certainly I do. At the police court proceedings, we shall hear the case for the prosecution but in all probability his solicitors will advise him to reserve his defense. Time will be sprung upon us at the trial. And, by the way, I have a word of caution to give you, my friend. I must not appear in the case."

"What?"

"No, officially, I have nothing to do. Until I have found that last link in my chain, I must remain behind the scenes. Mrs. Cavendish must think I am working for her husband, not against him."

"I say, that's playing it an bit low down," I protested.

"Not at all. We have to deal with a most clever and unscrupulous man, and we must use any means in our power—otherwise he will slip through our fingers. That is why I have been careful to remain in the background. All the discoveries have been made by Japp, and Japp will take all the credit. If I am called upon to give evidence at all"—he smiled broadly—"it will probably be as a witness for the defense."

I could hardly believe my ears.

"It is quite en regle," continued Poirot. "Strangely enough, I can give evidence that will demolish one contention of the prosecution."

"Which one?"

"The one that relates to the destruction of the will. John Cavendish did not destroy that will."

Poirot was a true prophet. I will not go into the details of the police court proceedings, as it involves many tiresome repetitions. I will merely state baldly that John Cavendish reserved his defense, and was duly committed for trial.

September found us all in London. Mary took a house in Kensington, Poirot being included in the family party.

I myself had been given a job at the war office, so was able to see them continually.

As the weeks went by, the state of Poirot's nerves grew worse and worse. That "last link" he talked about was still lacking. Privately, I hoped it might remain so, for what happiness could there be for Mary, if John were not acquitted.

On September 15th John Cavendish appeared in the dock at the Old Bailey, charged with "The Wilful Murder of Emily Agnes Inglethorp," and pleaded "Not Guilty."

Sir Ernest Heavywether, the famous K. C. had been engaged to defend him. Mr. Philips, K. C., opened the case for the crown.

The murder, he said, was a most premeditated and cold-blooded one. It was neither more nor less than the deliberate poisoning of a fond and trusting woman by the stepson to whom she had been more than a mother. Ever since his boyhood, she had supported him. He and his wife had lived at Styles Court in every luxury, surrounded by her care and attention. She had been their kind and generous benefactress.

He proposed to call witnesses to show how the prisoner, a profligate and spendthrift, had been at the end of his financial tether, and had also been carrying on an intrigue with a certain Mrs. Raikes, a neighboring farmer's wife. This having come to his stepmother's ears, she taxed him with it on the afternoon before her death, and a quarrel ensued, part of which was overheard.

On the previous day, the prisoner had purchased strychnine at the village chemist's shop wearing a disguise by means of which he hoped to throw the onus of the crime upon another man, to wit, Mrs. Inglethorp's husband, of whom he had been bitterly jealous. Luckily for Mr. Inglethorp, he had been able to produce an unimpeachable alibi.

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

TOMORROW is the Fourth of July. Me and Jubilee laid quite a while and I told him how glad I am that I am not the father of my country. I would hate to be dead so long as that. My mother says angels are so light they just go floating up to heaven and don't have to use their wings at all if they don't feel like it. I bet I wouldn't like to be an angel. I bet an angel can't go in swimming. Because an angel is so light that it can't dive and if it did dive it is so light that it would break its neck on top of the water, like I almost done when I dut into shallow water one time. I stopped so sudden that I thought it had drove the spine out of my back far enough for me to use it for a tail, and I could feel my feet hit the water on each side of me. I bet an angel wouldn't want to look like I looked when I done that. All the other angels would give it the laugh.

I let Jubilee down out of the window by the rope in his teeth and looked at the sky to see if it was going to rain, and it wasn't so I put on my short britches and went down and done my work and turned the cows out and fed my face. Then we went out to the pasture behind the cows so fast that the cows wondered what the matter was. Maybe we will tie a bunch of firecrackers to each cow's tail tomorrow and show them what spoil is. If we had some more horses than our one which is out to the pasture we could get on them and go hollering after the cows and put on a wild west.

The girls hadn't showed up to come to the pasture with us so we done a quick hike through the woods to the railroad track and down the railroad track and out to the back of the poorhouse. We swum across to the skipperydillicks, but they were dry because it hadn't rained in so long; so we splashed water on them for quite a while and then we went up and slid down, and the water had only wetted them about half an inch deep, and we rolled all of that and then rolled off on our face slide. We just stood in the water and looked at each other, and then we found a bullet, and played we Pirate and Wagon and Tavern on the other side. We had to go up the river around the head before we could climb out without being [illegible] and get in our clothes. We were in such hurry on account of [illegible]
